Explore the hEARing Lab: An Education Program for Curious Minds!

Kids ages 5-9 travel through an adventure that is both fun and educational! Experience this exciting exhibit as it explores speech and hearing health in a highly interactive experience.

Follow a treasure map and complete activities along the way to receive novel giveaways for children of all ages (including adults).

Learn about your ear and how we hear using ping pong balls and tuning forks. Discover how sounds can damage our ears and see those effects using simple pipe cleaners.

Most importantly, discover ways to protect your ears so that you can listen safely and keep your ears young and fully functional, no matter how old you are!

ASHA Community Giveback: Hearing, Swallowing, and Voice Screenings

While the kids complete their interactive adventure, come join us for hearing, swallowing, and voice screenings. You can bring the whole family!

You can have your hearing tested and even test your phone or personal listening device to see if you are listening to your music at safe levels.

Then, check the health of your mouth and throat with a voice and swallowing screening - a simple, pain free, non-invasive assessment that takes only 10 minutes and could actually save your life!

Did you know that over 200,000 new cases of mouth and throat cancers are identified every year and these cancers are not limited to people who smoke or chew tobacco? The HPV virus has dramatically increased mouth and throat cancers in younger, non-smoking adults.

By allowing our screeners to examine your mouth, listen to your voice, and ask you a few questions about your swallowing, you can increase the chances of uncovering any concerns early, when the treatment is less intensive and more successful. Stop by and let us take a look!
